Guest Speaker
Judith Gordon
Founder of LeaderEsQ

Judith is a facilitator, mediator and coach focused on guiding people and their organizations to their full potential. She is the founder of LeaderEsQ, a consultancy providing practical, tools-driven approaches to greater productivity, performance and personal satisfaction. Her programs and coaching focus on leadership, resilience, emotional intelligence, stress management, and wellbeing. Judith teaches at UCLA School of Law, is on faculty of the California Health and Longevity Institute, and a new member of the NAWBO-LA Board, serving as Board Strategy and Leadership Chair.

Each year at this time, good intentions abound and we start off the year with renewed hope for the best year yet. Yet how do we actually make this year the best year yet, not just hope for it? Join us for this interactive workshop that will provide you with tools that you can use right away to increase your productivity, network more effectively, and build cohesion and collaboration among your team.

Get more done and have more fun in 2017.
